

Fig. 1 Luminescence Spectrum

* The portion where the luminescence spectra of the panel product and the material do not overlap represents the loss of energy. The new material has a larger ratio of the overlapped portion, and thus functions as a highly efficient blue luminescent material.